“ Chris you are truly missed. I think of you every day wishing I had the medical knowledge to help you. You will always be in my heart. I don't know why some people are dealt the cards they get and you got a bad one. I watched you suffer and couldn't take it away, I could wipe the tears you made and talk you about things and what you needed to do. We were on the right track but fell off. I'm just glad the Lord blessed me with the time he gave me on that Sunday to have conversation with you. I know you have a turntable of gold and are spinning the music in heaven. I have a lot of what ifs and guilt about hospice, but I know you were tired and just had to let go. I will honor your life Saturday and raise a frosty to you. Send me a sign you are watching over us. We have your mom and I will keep my promise to you to help Jayden with what he needs. Love and miss you!

“ I only met you in the last 11 months of your life. I didn't get to meet DJMoney or the great Daddy to your 3 boys. The Chris I met suffered for most of that time. In and out of the hospital in and out of rehab always in pain. I read posts on Facebook about you how many people admired you and cared and loved for you I'm only sorry I didn't get to see that side of you. When I would take care of you, you would always apologize and I said it was my honor to take care of you and to help you I am sorry that we only got to know each other for that short of time, but I am happy that you are pain-free finally. I love you, Chris Rest easy young man.
